It's about time — yours.

Successful, thriving organizations are in constant pursuit of improvement in people and performance. Your management team is juggling growth, tougher competition, new regulations and more. The University of Nevada, Reno works with businesses that understand change happens from the inside out. Businesses in motion. Businesses that value human development as a business strategy.

We can help with customized training that makes the most of your time and resources.

Management and professional education are no longer perks — they are integral to organizational success. When custom-built, they contribute to real-time problem solving and performance improvement. We help address your company-specific issues through learning, interaction and motivation.

Our work with gaming organizations worldwide has redefined management and executive gaming education to be original, strategic, relevant and highly collaborative, bridging the latest ideas with real-world demands.

Customized courses, delivered in-house to your site, will:

- Provide training from industry experts, tailored to your organization's specific needs
- Increase your bottom-line effectiveness by increasing employee expertise in company-specific issues, policies and practices specific to the gaming industry
- Train employees who have little experience in gaming — and update those who do — with up-to-the-minute, industry-specific regulations and procedures
- Reduce training expenses by offering targeted instruction to more employees at once
- Decrease employee travel costs by bringing the training and instructors to you
- Minimize employee hours spent away from the workplace
- Foster camaraderie, staff buy-in and a team approach to company-specific concerns

Education keeps your organization current.

Stay abreast of new developments in business techniques that reinforce effective business practices. Continuing education will give you the tools you need to remain ahead of the competition by anticipating and embracing change.

We can meet your educational needs with:

Customized Programs

We understand the business environment in which gaming companies operate. We believe that every organization has its own clock, its own style, its own geography, and learns in its own way. We also have a point of view on how organizations advance. We believe that adults respond best to learning that is relevant, self-discovered and in context. We strive to create development solutions that combine the best knowledge with the smartest delivery.

Individual programs designed to meet your short- and long-term company goals can be delivered through our customized programs. Training is an ongoing process, not a one-time event. The University of Nevada Reno's Gaming Management Program staff invests the time to get to know your game plan, your environment and your style, so we can provide the right solutions for your company.

Needs Assessments

The University's curriculum development specialists are prepared to conduct a comprehensive needs assessment at your site, present their findings and tailor a management development program — with courses brought to your location — that will match the needs of your organization and enhance your plan for success. Our discovery process includes senior team interviews, needs assessments and expert consultation, followed up in most cases with active executive involvement.

Semi-Custom Programs

By integrating curriculum from our existing courses with the specific needs of your organization, we can create courses that cover the latest practices, topics, issues and trends critical to the gaming industry. To meet the specific needs and educational demands of your organization, we can design, develop and deliver a course or series of courses for a comprehensive program — or you may choose from our extensive menu of current courses. We offer a wide variety of courses that can be delivered in varying formats. Choose the course or courses you would like us to bring to your company and we will tailor them to meet your needs.

Collaborations and Partnerships

We can bring many of our gaming management courses to your location anywhere in the world. All courses are available for a flat fee, and you may recruit as many people as you wish to attend (there are maximums for some courses, determined by subject matter). Ask us how gaming management courses may be sponsored by multiple gaming properties to offset costs. For example:

- You host the course, provide the classroom, audio-visual equipment and faculty airfare.
- We provide faculty, course materials, faculty accommodations, arrangements and administrative services.
- You have as many of your own staff people attend as you wish.
- You promote the course to other gaming properties in your area and charge a fee for attendance to help offset your course costs.
